Utica High School's "Oscar" of the year goes to our esteemed Principal and Coach, Lawrence E. Yarman. A producer of champions, "Bus" has focused the spotlight of Athletics on Utica the past few years. His ideals of clean sportsmanship, his sympathetic humor, and congenial spirit has won the admiration of students and townspeople, and the respect of his contemporaries. The 1946 Builder Staff takes great pleasure in dedicating this book to Mr. Yarman.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

BOARD OF EDUCATION

The producers of this year's cinema were Archie Hampshire, President; R. I. McCann, Vice-President; Joe Torrens, Jay Burkholder, Ralph Grissom, and Mrs. Virginia Robinson, who served capably as secretary.

Although there were many difficulties to overcome before production could be started, they succeeded in enlisting the services of an efficient corps of teachers.

Struggling with the growing financial burden, ever alert to the changing needs for an adequate educational program for the boys and girls of the Utica-Washington School district, these men loyally and faithfully serve their community, their recompense being the satisfaction of producing the best school system they can.

—Robin Kirkpatrick

A Review - - - - - - Senior History

Back in the year 1943, a group of eighty-four young—stars-to-be began their career at Utica High studio under the direction of Mrs. Keinath. At the command of "Lights, Action, Camera," they began production. The following class officers were elected: Robert McWilliams, President; Lorella Smith, Vice President; Dolores Seavolt, Secretary; Dave Troyer, Student Council Representative. The class was well represented on the Builder Staff by John Holmes, Jack Walker, Jack Nethers, Richard Bell, Margaret Cummins, and Martha Meek.

Many of the boys, being naturally sportsminded, participated in the sports of the school. Those on the football team were William Herchline, Richard Davis, Calvin Frye, Jules Bernard, John Troyer, and Robert Adams. Basketball players were David

A Preview - - - - - - Class Prophecy

This beautiful morning in May of 1960, we look into the wide blue yonder and what do we see? It's a bird! NO—it's a plane! Yes, a very exquisitely designed rocket ship which we are informed belongs to the Magellan of the air, John W. Holmes, Jr.

We are overwhelmed with awe as we see this sleek, shining piece of mechanical merchandise glide to a stop in the "Utica Rocket Loading Pavilion." By a closer examination we find that this ship was designed by Duane Arck, America's foremost modern rocket designer. Inside this spacious ship we see a placard stating that the windows and glass accessories were supplied and installed by the world's most clever glass cutter, Jules A. Bernard.

As a demonstration flight, Mr. Holmes offers to take us along with his load of passengers, around the world and through the universe to try to induce us to buy this type of rocket ship from the company he represents. This company is famously known as "Spray & Son" with G. Spray as president and his son as executive administrator.

When we accept this invitation, we are informed that there are six passengers. The most distinguished is Edward Young, a renowned bull fighter. Ed is on his way to test his skill against the super-ferocious bulls of Mexico.

As we enter the ship we meet Dr. Wanda Conard, Ph. D., and the members of her staff. Wanda is taking her staff to the moon to establish an experimental station to study plants, animals, and their environments. This staff consists of May Louise Hays, a botanist; Eileen Rice, a psychologist; Ruth Frye, a psychiatrist; and the greatest of all lady veterinarians, Betty Howell. These fine ladies will have their names in the annals of science and history and will be remembered forever as the pioneer philanthropists of the moon.

After we are all seated, down the aisle bustles the ever-efficient, always-helpful stewardess, Barbara Miller, who instructs us as to how we must sit during the take-off.

Bequests - - - - - - - - Class Will

We, the Seniors of 1946, being of sound mind and body, realizing that we are about to fade from the scene of events in this sanitarium for the treatment of ignorance, do hereby make and declare this to be our last will and testament:

To Mr. Ball we proudly give this Boy Scout uniform which will help him display his executive ability.

To Mr. Yarman we dedicate the BUILDER.

We leave to Mrs. Tulloss a new pair of roller skates. This will enable you to glide gracefully into your classes.

To Mr. McGuffey we leave this saying: "Grass never grows on a busy street."

To Mrs. Kauber we will a stack of Superman Comic Books to read to her seventh grade in home-room period. We hope this isn't to drastic a change from "Pollyanna."

To Mr. Law goes the 1946 Academy Award for his direction of "A Voice in the Dark."

"Rusty," as he was called, was beloved by all who knew him, and is sadly missed by the members of the Freshman Class.

CLASS OF 1950

Imagine what the future has for Utica High School in the way of Sinatras, Walkers, Johnsons, Shores, and Grables.

The president of the eighth grade class is Jack Beckholt and if a man couldn't handle the job a woman, Joan Biggs, was elected vice president. Since Nelson Spray is good on his notes, he was appointed secretary. It takes a woman to handle the money, so Helen Ferguson was appointed treasurer. As a "star" news reporter, Ronnie Rine was elected because he is always up to date with the news. Not an incident slips by without his knowing. Fred Herchline, a coming Van Johnson, was elected Student Council representative.

The eighth grade is very well represented in the band by Anna Mae Beebe, Dixie Lee Hall, Fred Herchline, and Edwin Smith. The class is honored by Ronnie Rine's being drum major.

On February 15, the group presented an interesting Lincoln's Birthday program in assembly.

The members of the eighth grade class look eagerly forward to four happy years of loyal service in the productions of Utica High School. —Carol Booth

"The Eyes And Ears Of The World"

BUILDER STAFF

In the early part of the school year of 1945-46 the producers of the studio's annual assembled to plan a super-production.

To raise money for the year-book, the staff sponsored movies, a Builder play, and directed the sale of Kadet Kards and advertising blocks.

Lickingana representatives were Barbara Miller and Beatrice Pierce.

The success of the book has depended on the willing cooperation of the entire staff. They present this book to you with the hope that you enjoy the results of their efforts as you leisurely leaf through the pages of this Builder of 1946.

—Billy Nesbit

INK SPLASH

Where would our "Studio" be without advertisement? Who else would be responsible for our publicity except Mr. R. R. Brinkerhoff, editor and publisher of the Utica Herald, and his staff?

The staff keeps the students and towns-people posted on school activities through the "Ink Splash" page which appears in the Utica Herald each Thursday. At the same time, they gain experience in journalism.

A staff meeting is held every Monday at 11:15 to receive assignments and discuss any problems that arise.

They have done very well this year with Donnelda Hutton as editor and Dorothy Brown serving as her assistant.

In the way of statistics, we numbered 40, plus our majorettes, flagbearers, color guards, and drum major. A large percentage of the members were new to band life this year, but are looking forward to further service with the band.

Several of our members were chosen to participate in the All-County Spring Festival at Hebron, on April 26th.

Officers of the year were: President, William Olah; Vice-President, Cleona Jones; Secretary-Treasurer, Ethel McMillen; Business Manager, Clarence Jones.

"TRIPLE TRIO"

One of the specialties of Utica High School this year is the Triple Trio. It is composed of nine girls, four of whom are Seniors and five are Juniors.

This was the second year a Triple Trio has been organized and the group has stressed novelty numbers and a capello work.

They have made appearances in the Christmas Chapel, at the Junior and Builder Plays, Student Council Banquet and All-County Festival.

The Triple Trio is an extra curricular non-credit organization. The girls are in it because they are interested in music and have an ability for singing.

VALENTINE FORMAL DANCE

Attractive decorations in the Valentine motif and special lighting effects transformed the auditorium into a gala scene. The affair was so enjoyed by all those present, that it is hoped this feature may become an annual event.

HOMECOMING

Utica High School staged its first annual Homecoming game on Friday, October 5. On Thursday night, October 4, a snake dance was enjoyed by students and Friday, a big homecoming parade was planned, led by the band and featured by many colorful floats. Our band entertained between halves, presenting a number of new and difficult formations arranged by Miss Denton. Friday night, an athletic party was held in the high school auditorium, where Miss Dolores Seavolt was crowned Homecoming Queen.

This fall, under the sponsorship of Mr. George McGuffy, thirty-six boys formed the local chapter of the F. F. A. This is Mr. McGuffy's second year with the Utica "Future Farmers."

Due to the large class, they were able to carry on several interesting projects in crop and animal husbandry. The group also attended stock sales, judging contests, and exhibited stock at the Knox County Fair.

The officers for the year were: Clarence Jones, President; Herman Stradley, Vice-President; Jack Walker, Secretary; Don Barrick, Treasurer; Paul Knight, Reporter; Dale Billman, Sentinel.

CHEERLEADERS

On September 14, 1945, a group of girls and boys assembled in the auditorium after school. They were asked to lead a few yells and then the meeting was dismissed. The following Monday a notice was placed on the bulletin board listing the chosen few. The Varsity cheerleaders were Dolores Seavolt, Mary Seavolt, Ann Hankinson, Julia Earlewine, and Anne Nardi. The Reserve cheerleaders were Ruth Troyer, Kathleen Evans, and Gwen Lake. The alternates were John Ball, Dick Beebe, and Norma Walker.

The cheerleaders have worked hard this year and the successful pep meetings, snake dances, and yells at all our athletic contests show the results of their excellent ability and coordination.

A cheering section was organized for the basketball games and with the cooperation of this group, the cheerleaders demonstrated their skill in leading original and clever yells.

Mrs. Bea Alford, as sponsor of the cheerleaders, assisted them to achieve a successful year directing the enthusiasm of the Utica fans.

Utica High School can be proud to have been represented by this particular group of cheerleaders.

PIGSKIN ROUND-UP

For the first time since 1926 our Utica Redskins won an undisputed championship. The Redskins won seven games and tied only one, and that to Loudonville. This 1945 squad was probably the biggest and fastest team ever to represent Utica. The first eleven was made up of seven seniors, two juniors, one sophomore, and one freshman. There are eight boys on our squad who won honors.

Mr. Yarman, our coach, was very successful in turning out an undefeated football team.

This 1945 team will be remembered as one of the best Utica has ever had.

Our Redskins won over the Blue Aces from Granville for the County Championship and the County Tournament. We entered the Class "B" District and for the first time in five years our Redskins were eliminated in the first round by University High from Columbus by the score of 46-34.

Our makeshift lineups failed to slow the Champion Redskins. They appeared as strong as every by smothering Summit, Alexandria, Etna, Johnstown and Pataskala.

BASEBALL OF '45

Last spring the Redskins of Utica High sailed through an undefeated season and had the honor of representing Utica by meeting Granville for the Licking County Championship in a game played at White's Field in Newark. Utica won by the score of 14 to 7.

Mr. Yarman had a large squad from which to pick his first team and did a very commendable job helping to bring another baseball trophy to Utica High School.

Dave Troyer stood on the mound burning the hands of Dale Hickman. Speedy Wayne Curtis was on first while John Troyer was stationed at second. Don Barrick, a fast freshman, filled the "hot alley" at shortstop while Dick Davis occupied third. The outfield consisted of Don Biggs, Lee Allen, and Bob Adams as regulars while Roger Mason, Jack Hughes, Robin Kirkpatrick, and Kent Woodruff substituted.

CLASS PROPHECY

Then, in less time than it takes to tell, we are soaring through the air at the rate of 80,000 miles per hour. We circle the world twice and are unbelievably hastening off to the moon.

In less than two hours we arrive. There we are greeted at the rocket port by Richard Wright, the honorable and trustworthy ambassador of the Moon.

Now we bid farewell to Dr. Conard and her staff and also to Mr. Young who has decided to parachute back to earth and Mexico.

With our pilot and stewardess, we are expertly driven in a huge limousine to the planet, Pluto, by the ambassador's chauffeur, Dale Billman. Pluto is the "Honeymoon Garden" of the universe. It is here we find the former coach of Ohio State, John Troyer, and his newly acquired wife, the former Dolores Seavolt. Also, in the spotlight we see Bill Herchline and his melo-melodious masters of music. While eating, we secretly admire our dainty little waitress whom we later learn is our own Freda Debolt. Freda seems to have been fortunate enough to become a blonde by some means since teen-age. It seems that many people are accomplishing this feat by a special preparation prepared and sold by Lady Vivian, formerly known to us as Vivian Lake. We spend a glorious time here at the Garden and then we return to earth via the rocket ship.

As we reach the earth we pass over the world's most powerful broadcasting station in San Francisco. Inside we see people rolling in the aisles as a result of laughter. Our pilot recircles this area to learn the reason of this strang episode and we find that it is Fay Harper, a famous comedian, who is entertaining the world with his witty and clever jokes.

In the midst of all this we see Dave Troyer, the big, handsome blue-coat who is captain of the New York Police Department. He came from New York to deliver a special note to Mr. Harper from Robert L. Green, Mayor of New York City, which requested Mr. Harper please to keep his best jokes to himself because when he told them he created too much disorder over New York.

As we soar over Beverly Hills, we look out the window to see a huge cabin plane sailing past with a sign trailing from it saying "JUST MARRIED." Upon further observance we notice the new brides and grooms. They are Dolores Airesman and her long pursued Peter Lawford and—occupying the next seat back is Pat Le May and her recently captured three-star general. (It all runs in the family.) Piloting this Honeymoon Hopper is our own little Lizzy Parkenson, first lady to be given the privilege of piloting this run.

Flying over Hollywood we see a large neon sign with these names: BOYER, SIMPSON, MIRACLE, CULLISON and DEVORE. We inquire of a fellow passenger and learn that this is the largest motion picture business yet running. These women started out with little or nothing and have achieved the right to be called "the five richest individuals in God's Kingdom."

From over the Golden Gate Bridge at San Francisco, we look down and see a tiny black speck on the bridge. Coming within range of sight we see it is Dick Preston, one of the world's most skillful exterior decorators, very busily dabbing paint upon the rusted surface. He and his partner expect to complete the job within ten days. His partner, Kenneth Wilkin, is working part time to help himself financially to complete his theological education as he is planning to become a minister.

We see on the middle span of the bridge a young man—sitting. We look closer and see it is Calvin Frye fishing for lobsters. He has a thriving business keeping the restaurants of the Western States supplied with lobsters. Heading north, we descend over Portland to see a huge building built across the Columbia River. This building was built theoretically to save time, labor, and money. The theory was to put cans in the bottom of the river, then when the fish swam over the cans, by remote control the containers were elevated to the building where they need only to be sealed. This plan did not work because the fish were too large for the small cans. But making the best of their error, Ruth Beever, Virginia Warthen, Betty Bell, and Shirley Good are still in the fishing industry by regular means of securing larger cans at a higher price. These dames have organized into the "Daughters of Neptune," a thriving sorority for owners, operators, and workers of the fishermen of America.

Having decided to return to Ohio we head straight in that direction. Passing over some fine farming land we see a huge barn covering most of an acre. On top is written "BELL & WALKER—Dealers in Horses and Cattle." We soon learn this immense tract of land is owned by these friends of ours. It is devoted to the raising of the world's most productive dairy cattle and the world's most fashionable riding horses.

At last we arrive back in Utica and, after our ship is hydraulically stopped, we step out to plant our feet once again upon the earth. To evade traffic we take a short-cut leaving Brinkerhoff Field at the north gate. We cross a by street and step into a corner newsstand which we learn is owned and operated by Bill Nesbit who is now working on his second million dollars.

It is here we buy a copy of "JANEY'S JOURNAL," America's most informative publication. This paper is edited and censored by Martha Meek and her star reporter is Donnelda Hutton, the most inquisitive reporter in the business.

Leafing through the Journal we notice an advertisement for Madison Square Garden. In this ad we see a picture of Lee Faulkner in the middle of one of her high dives which has made her world famous. In this sensational dive, from the time she leaves the platform, she turns two somersaults, does a beautiful swan dive, eats a sandwich, drinks a coke and does three backward flips before disappearing into the water. She has traveled around the world four times presenting this unbelievable feat.

In the editorial section we find an article written by the Secretary of Agriculture, Clarence Jones, expressing his views upon the problem of whether the chicken or the egg came first. He says the egg came first because he believes the first thing one should encounter on any day is a large plate of scrambled eggs. Also, we read in the footnote that this editorial was dictated by him to his extremely practical secretary, Barbara Koontz, who was recently crowned "Queen of Secretaries."

Turning to the classified ads we see an ad from Lady Mary Jane's Beauty Salon, stating as an advertisement, that Elinor Hampshire, Lady Supreme Court Justice, is one of her many satisfied customers.

Among the theatrical advertisements we read that Lois Babb has achieved great fame as a singing and dancing partner to his highness, the King of Swoon, Cooperrider.

We also read in the "Hedda Hopper's column" that Imogene Horn is now happily married to a brilliant actor and is making her home in Beverly Hills.

On the financial page we see where Richard Davis has gone far in the field of petroleum research. His business is now worth $10,000,000 and he is figuring on expanding it. Richard's business involves the direct extraction of kerosene from the earth, a process discovered and patented by Dick and his contemporaries.

Last but not least, we turn to the funny page. We find striking cartoons and comic strips there, created by Lenamae Lewis. We also find in one corner of this page an article giving advice to the lovelorn written by Betty Higgins.

The preceding undefinable piece of literature was written by two unheard of, long forgotten, never remembered, struggling writers of 20th century composition, Eileen Smith and Bob Adams.

SENIOR HISTORY

Troyer, John Troyer, Richard Davis, Calvin Frye, Jack Nethers, Mark Spray, Richard Preston, Jules Bernard, William Herchline and Richard Bell.

Several of the young voices were heard in the Glee Clubs and Norma Dispennette was chosen from the class as the Drum Majorette for the peppy Utica High School Band.

The young reporters did their job of keeping the news up to date in the Ink Splash.

Then May came and one year of production was over and the three months vacation was very well earned.

Back at work again after the summer vacation the class had lost some members along the way, and now consisted of only seventy-two members. Mr. Yarman was the leader of the group. A new set of officers were chosen. President, Robert Adams; Vice President, Eileen Smith; Secretary-Treasurer, William Nesbit; Student Council Representative, David Troyer. Builder Staff Members were Elinor Hampshire, Martha Meek, Lois Babb, and Mary Jane Smith. Some of the class served on the Ink Splash and Library Staff.

Some of the boys of the class were determined to make sports history. John Troyer, Jules Bernard, Dean Thogmartin, Calvin Frye, Robert Adams, Richard Davis, and William Herchline were on the football team. David Troyer, Mark Spray, Jules Bernard, Richard Bell, Richard Preston, John Troyer, William Herchline, Richard Davis, and Calvin Frye played basketball. John Holmes was assistant manager for the football squad.

Many of our group were talented singers and musicians so we were fortunate to have several members in the band and Glee Clubs.

Once more May came and the group joyously began their summer vacation.

Production began again with sixty young members ready to work. The following class officers were elected: Mark Spray, President; Glen Spray, Vice President; Marie Evans, Secretary; Eileen Smith, Treasurer; David Troyer, Student Council Representative.

Martha Meek was chosen Assistant Editor of the Builder. The following staff was elected: Donnelda Hutton, Duane Arck, Lois Babb, Eileen Smith, Barbara Miller, Dolores Airesman, Leatrice Faulkner, David Troyer, Robert Adams, William Nesbit, and Lenamae Lewis. Barbara Miller was chosen Representative of Utica High School on the Lickingana for the year of 1945-1946.

The young athletes were becoming better and better throughout the years. Richard Davis, Glen Spray, Robert Adams, Fay Harper, and Jules Bernard served on the football squad. Robert Green was manager. Dolores Seavolt was chosen from the Junior Class to help lead cheers to speed the boys on to victory. Richard Davis, John Troyer, David Troyer, Calvin Frye, William Herchline, Mark Spray, Richard Bell, Richard Preston, and Jules Bernard played on the varsity basketball team.

Lois Babb was elected Vice President of the Student Council. In her Senior year, she automatically became President.

The Junior Class presented the play, "Galloping Ghosts," and the cast, Leatrice Faulkner, Martha Meek, Donnelda Hutton, Marie Evans, Dolores Seavolt, Eileen Smith, Neil McPeek, Duane Arck, Robert Adams, William Nesbit, and Mark Spray really showed their ability to act.

In May a successful Junior-Senior Banquet was sponsored by the Junior Class.

Spring rolled around quickly and some of the Junior girls ushered at Baccalaureate and Commencement Exercises.

Summer vacation at last and the class left the school building with the thought that next fall would be the last one for them at Utica High School.

The last year of production for the class of '46 had begun in the fall of 1945. The new set of officers were chosen: Bob Adams, President; Leatrice Faulkner, Vice President; Dolores Alresman, Treasurer; Martha Meek, Secretary; and Dolores Seavolt, Student Council Representative.

Many of the Senior voices were heard in the choruses. Some of the class tried their hand at writing for the Ink Splash.

The Seniors presented the play, "A Voice in the Dark," and it was very successful. Some of the Seniors participated in the Builder play, "Come Out of the Kitchen."

The year passed swiftly and soon came Baccalaureate on May 19th and then Commencement on May 23rd. The Seniors leave Utica High School with the thought that some day they may come back to renew old memories. —Lenamae Lewis.

CLASS OF 1947

Serving on the Student Council were Shirlee Miller, Ann Hankinson, Betty Rine, and William Olah.

One of the biggest shows produced during the year was their class play, "Headed for Eden." Due to the splendid directing of Mrs. Tulloss and the co-operation of the cast and all who helped in every way it was a great success.

Shirlee Miller, Carol Booth, Betty Rine, Robin Kirkpatrick, Ann Hankinson, and Frances Smoots were chosen to membership on the Licking County Honor Society. The initiation service held at Johnstown was very inspiring.

A full and happy year was climaxed by the Junior-Senior banquet, where there was "Music in the Air." —Betty Rine

CLASS WILL

We bequeath to Mrs. Helphrey a pair of high-powered glasses because we know she's ruined her eyes looking for a bright eighth grade student.

To Mr. Ankrom we bequeath a pamphlet on "What to Do With Giggling Girls." We hope this will solve one of your biggest teaching problems.

We leave to Miss Denton a high starched collar, horn-rimmed glasses, and a hickory stick so she will not be mistaken for a high school student

To Mr. Boyd, we leave the honored position of playing first clarinet in the U. H. S. Band.

To Mrs. Langdon we bequeath a new post-war model station wagon that she might start a taxi service between Newark and Utica. We know the trade will be good.

To Miss Logan we leave a telephone with a private line and no charges for long distance calls.

To Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. Alford, Mrs. Krietler, and Mrs. Smith, we leave a WELCOME mat from Utica High School.

We will to Charlene a pair of scissors attached to a ball and chain so you can keep them within reaching distance.

To Mike we leave $500 and a lease on one pool-table. The $500 is to take care of all losses contracted by the Sophomore "pool-sharks."

To the Juniors we leave a preventive against "Senior-itis." The Faculty doesn't want you in as serious condition as we were.

To the Sophomores we leave the wonderful feeling that comes with being U. C.'s, meaning upperclassmen.

To the Freshmen we will a box in which they may store all their childish possessions, now that they are about to become sophisticated sophomores.

To the Seventh and Eighth Grades we leave our best wishes that they may spend four years in high school as successfully as we have done.

I, Betty Howell, leave my witty sayings to Beulah Pierce so that in the future she can make remarks other than, "Was somebody bawlin' for Beulah?"

I, Jack Walker, leave my agricultural knowledge to my brother Leland so he can do the chores while I spend my time in Mt. Vernon.

I, Donnelda Hutton, bequeath my "running walk" to Annie Nardi. With this you can take care of Ritchey's Saturday night rush, Annie.

I, Elinor Hampshire, leave to Johnny Stone an extra box of thumb-tacks. I like to see things POPPING, too.

I, Bob Adams, bestow upon Eddie Smith my honorable position at the Utica Hardware. Be sure to publicize it like I did, Eddie.

I, Dolores Airesman, leave my success as a blonde beauty" to Ruth Maharg.

I, Ruth Beaver, leave my shy, timid nature to my sister Neva. Don't abuse it, Neva.

I, Ed Young, leave my familiar hair style to Paul Knight. This gives your culrs a change of direction, Paul.

We, Clarence Jones and Billy Nesbit, bequeath the keys to our hearts to the Warthen sisters.

I, Dolores Seavolt, will to my sister Mary my ability to hold one man as successfully as I have done.

This page sponsored by RILEY'S SERVICE STATION

I, Glenn Spray, leave to the big study hall a radio. This will help enrich the minds of our students in an entirely different way.

I, Fay Harper, leave my fascinating sense of humor to Daniel Helphery.

I, Mary Jane Smith, leave to the Mason twins instructions on how to PAINT. I specialize in DRAWING men, girls.

I, Betty Higgens, leave my humble way to Rosayn McCann.

I, Lenamae Lewis, leave my string of jokes to Joe Nardi. You can use some of them in next year's Builder, Joey.

We, Martha Simpson and Imogene Horn, bequeath our diamond rings to Jerry Weston and Andy Miller. We know money's scarce, boys, so here's your golden opportunity.

I, Calvin Frye, leave my little dog "Tannie" to Marcella Hunter. "Tannie" will help keep the wolves away, Marcella, but please put her out at nights.

I, Lizzy Parkinson, leave my Spanish book to anyone who will have the darn thing.

I, Dave Troyer, leave my muscles to the remaining boys in U. H. S. Don't rush, boys, there's plenty to go around.

I, Nola Devore, will my glasses to next year's Chit-Chat writer so they can see all, hear all, and tell all, just as I have done.

I, Lee Faulkner, leave a pair of shoes to my sister Nancy so she may follow in my footsteps.

I, Bob Green, will my position as athletic manager to Bernard Young in hopes that he can keep track of the stolen football jerseys.

I, Bud Holmes, leave my hard-earned pilot's license to Dick Kirkpatrick so he can see more than one girl an evening.

I, Barbara Koontz, bequeath my charming ability to be teacher's pet to Dick Myers.

We, Freda Debolt and Shirley Good, leave our secret love letters to next year's English classes so they can learn the fundamentals of letter writing.

I, Jules Bernard, leave my frown to Von Green so Von won't get wrinkles from smiling so much.

I, Dale Billman, will that warm front seat on Smithy's bus to Herman Stradley so next year there will be no disputes.

I, Marie Boyer, will my hearty giggle to Jack Handwerk, and hope he can control it better than I did.

I, Betty Cullison, leave my numerous absence slips to Lloyd Preston. Just a few to add to your collection, Lloyd.

I, Dick Davis, will my speed to Roger Mason with the warning to use only where sports are concerned.

We, Wanda Conard and Vivian Lake, leave our typewriters to Harold Smith. One for each hand, Harold, then you can type twice as fast.

I, Betty Bell, bestow upon Wanda Debolt my ability to argue so that next year the school won't be without a good spat now and then.

I, Dick Bell, leave my future Army address to Barbara Miller.

I, Myrtle Miracle, leave my pancake make-up to Frosty to cover up his freckles.

I, Duane Arck, will my knack for reckless driving to Johnnie Nesbit. You already have the big car, Nesie. With this aid you can take those corners faster.

I, Kenneth Wilkin, bequeath a bouquet of FORGET-ME-NOTS to Flossie Evans.

I, Joy Smith, bequeath my baton and strutting boots to Mary Janet Mantonya with the encouragement that practice makes perfect.

I, Bill Herchline, leave to all Junior boys this slogan: "Join the Navy and evade the final Government exam."

I, May Louise Hays, leave my lofty stature to Bea Baker. No kidding, when you're tall, you can see a lot you otherwise miss!

I, Dick Wright, request that my keen sense of humor be divided equally among Jack Benny, Fred Allen, and Bob Hope, that they might spice up their programs as I have done in my classes.

I, Virginia Warthen, bequeath my super-delicious recipes to Ann Hankinson. Remember that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach, Ann.

I, Pat LeMay, bequeath to Bea Pierce my good looking figure, that it might fulfill the qualifications for becoming the Powers Model that she desires to be.

I, Ruth Frye, after due deliberation, tearfully leave my out-of-town fellows to Carol Booth. Maybe this will bring your dreams to reality, Carol.

I, John Troyer, leave my evenings to Dolores Seavolt.

I, Eileen Rice, will my quiet way of talking to Anna Mae Beebe, that she might bring the level of her natural speaking voice from High C down to Middle C.

I, Dick Preston, bequeath my basketball skill to Robin Kirkpatrick.

I, Barbara Miller, leave all my Government notes to Marilyn McCelland. With that extra year of study, you should be a straight-A Government student.

I, Lois Babb, leave my little red-headed brother to Betty Rine. He'll prove to be very entertaining, especially when you have VISITORS.

I, Janey Meek, bequeath my rabbit's foot, four-leaf clover, and horseshoe for good luck to next year's Builder Editor with the special wish that all write-ups might be in on time.

In testimony whereof we have hereunto set our hand and seal this 23rd day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and forty-six.

CLASS OF 1946

THE STARS

★ FAY HARPER, Guard—Harper was a hard charging guard. The opponents had lots of trouble going through his side of the line. He is a senior.

★ ANDY MILLER, Tackle—Miller was excellent on the defense. Miller will probably be moved to a fullback next year. He is a junior.

★ ROBIN KIRKPATRICK, End—Kirkpatrick in the future will be another good end. He is a junior.

★ JIM MCCANN, Quarterback—With two more years to go McCann will develop into an excellent quarterback. He is a sophomore.

★ DAVE REED, Halfback—Reed was a very good defensive player and a good ball carrier. Much will be heard from him next year. Reed is a sophomore.

★ VON GREEN, Halfback—Green along with Reed will make an excellent halfback in the next two years. Green is also a sophomore.

★ BILL LE FEVER, Fullback—This was Le Fever's first year. Although he was not a regular he saw much action. Before he graduates we shall hear more of him.

Other members of the squad were: Charles Good, Carl Ryan, Dick Myers, Jim Brown and Bob Green (Manager).

garden, Katherine Orsburn, Donna Jackson, and Jeanette Popham. Builder representatives were Charles Good and Roger Smith.

In addition to these activities many of the boys took part in athletics. William LeFever, James Brown, Jack Quinif, and Charles Good were on the football squad. When basketball season began we found William LeFever, James Brown, and Charles Good playing on the Reserve Basketball team and were further honored to find Jack Quinif on the Varsity Basketball team.

Thus beginning their high school career the class shows promise of valuable service to Utica High School.
